On the Land of the Wadawurrung People

Dear families,

We commenced the new term last week and it was great to see everyone back. From all accounts, there were many adventures to be had over the winter break and I'm sure that despite the cool weather, a good time was had by all.

We came together on Friday to celebrate our start of term Mass in the gym, with Fr. Justin. This was an extra special celebration because we celebrated NAIDOC week at the same time. We were welcomed to country by our very good friend and Indigenous elder, Jenna Oldaker, who spoke to us about the importance of caring for the land on which we gather. Fr. Justin also spoke to us about being reverent to the land. How as custodians we can honor and celebrate this beautiful environment that we call our school.

I am always delighted to see our students participating in liturgical celebrations together. As a Catholic school we are proud of who we are and what we stand for. Our children are learning the importance of celebrating faith in community and how this helps to bring about the reign of God here on earth. Or, in the case of our setting, here at Saint Francis Xavier school. Let's have a great term everyone as we learn, live and grow together.

God bless,

Mark Hogbin

Cover Up Clothes

The ground is certainly very wet at the moment. We encourage all students to bring cover up clothing to school each day if they would like to play in the paddocks, ovals or bush areas of our school.

Calling All Gardeners

Are you a gardener, or would you like to become one? If so, we would love to hear from you. Mrs. Haywood is looking at doing some tree planting in the coming weeks and would love some creative hands to help her out. We involve the students whenever and wherever we can but sometimes we might need some big hands behind the shovel! Please contact Olivia Haywood or the office staff if you would like to become involved.

St. Francis Xavier Primary School is a Child Safe School called to action through Gospel values and Mercy tradition. Through the mission of Jesus within the Mercy tradition, we are called to action in pursuing fullness of life for all.

This term, our Social and Emotional Learning lessons will focus on the topics of Help Seeking and Gender Norms and Stereotypes.

Students will develop an understanding of when and how to seek support from trusted adults and peers, recognising that asking for help is a sign of strength.

They will also explore how gender stereotypes can influence the way people think, act and are treated, while learning to value diversity, challenge unfair assumptions and foster respectful, inclusive relationships.

These lessons aim to build students' confidence, empathy and wellbeing, helping them to create positive and respectful communities both at school and beyond.

Did you miss the recent SchoolTV webinar about understanding anxiety and depression? In this session, Dr Emma Woodward and Dr Joe Stammeijer shared practical insights and strategies on how to:

- stay calm and connected
- build daily routines
- meet the needs of neurodivergent learners

A recording is now available to replay until Monday 3 August. Don't forget to download a copy of the KEYpoints Flyer to help support conversations at home.

P&F News

- Silver Coin Challenge – BRING IN ALL YOUR SPARE CHANGE
Monday 20th July – Friday 31st July
How Silver coin challenge works - each class are provided a container, children can bring in coins throughout the 2 week period, the class (1 from each year level) who collects the most amount of money will then have a pizza lunch as their prize at a date selected by the school – thanks to Carboni's
- Hot Lunch Reminder – Hot lunches every Friday, place your child's order on Flexi Schools before 10am Thursday – no late orders will be taken – Volunteers needed to help pack – sign up available in your class chat group
- Milkshake Mondays
$1.50 for a milkshake & freckle/or marshmallow
The P&F are looking for anyone who would like to learn how to run Milkshake Mondays – they will then be put on a rotating roster to co-ordinate Milkshakes a few time each term so that we are not reliant on the same 1 or 2 people running this each week – if this is something you would like to do please contact Lisa on 0412 647 737 and come and learn next Monday at our Milkshake Monday. Please don't think that someone else will sign up so I don't need to – if we cannot get the volunteers to co-ordinate this each week we will not be able to run this and then the Children miss out.
We will also require 5 additional volunteers to assist each week via sign up in your class chat.

- Uniform Shop
Did you know our Second Hand Uniform shop is always open? Please see the ladies in the office if you wish to look at any items in our Second Hand Uniform shop, or reach out to a member of the P&F to help you with any of your Uniform needs.
All items in the Second Hand Uniform shop are between $5 and $10.
- SAVE THE DATES: Trivia Night – Friday 4th September
 School Disco – Thursday 17th September
- DONATIONS/PRIZES needed
As part of our Trivia night, we run a silent auction as well as a Raffle on the night – if you are able to assist with a Donation/Prize, please reach out to a member of our P&F or leave your donation in the office.
- VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
The P&F relies on volunteers each and every week to help pack Hot Lunches and assist with Milkshake Mondays.

Your class rep shares the volunteer sign up link in your class chat on a regular basis. The links cover the entire term, allowing you to choose a date that suits you well in advance.

Unfortunately, we are finding it increasingly difficult to fill all volunteer spots each week. Without enough volunteers, we may need to reduce or change the frequency of these much-loved treats for our children.

If you have an hour or 2 spare, please consider signing up for a shift. Every volunteer makes a real difference, and your support helps ensure we can continue to offer these special treats for our children, please don't think oh someone else will do it – we are a large community and if each family volunteered once or twice a year it would ease the constant request for volunteers.

AUSTRALIAN CENSUS

On August 11, Australia will hold its five-yearly national Census.

The Census of Population and Housing, conducted by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS), is a “comprehensive snapshot” that reveals the changing economic, social and cultural demographics of the nation.

Religious identification is a basic variable used in socio-demographic research.

A question on a person's religion has been included in all Australian Censuses, along with questions of country of birth and language spoken at home, because it is an important part of a person's identity and an indicator of Australia's cultural diversity.

Answering this question has always been optional. Despite this, it has had a high response rate (93% in 2011), with 5,075,910 people describing themselves as Catholic, or 20 per cent of the Australian population. National Centre for Pastoral Research (NCPR) director Trudy Dantis said data from the religion question was crucial to helping Catholic parishes, schools, dioceses and organisations understand their communities and plan for ministry and mission.

“Census data tells us a great deal about the demographics of self-identifying Catholics in particular regions, and for this reason, it is invaluable to pastoral planning,” Dr Dantis said.

“It is also an important aspect of planning for our Catholic organisations, since many Australians seek assistance from these institutions in times of personal crisis, and for services such as schools, health care facilities and welfare.”

The NCPR and its forerunners have been acquiring and analysing Census data from the ABS since the 1991 Census, making reports available to the Catholic community at national, diocesan and parish level (<https://ncpr.catholic.org.au/national-catholic-census-project/>)

Census data on religion does not reveal whether a person believes in God, goes to church, or even whether they are a member of a religious organisation, because it is not designed for this purpose.

In recent times, some groups in Australia have tried to encourage people not to identify with a religion unless they are actively practising, inviting them to tick the “No Religion” box instead.

However, research shows that many non-practising Catholics continue to identify as Catholic because it remains an important part of who they are.

Dr Dantis encouraged all Catholics to tick the “Catholic” box this year, while noting that some may need to identify in a slightly different manner.

“While the religion question provides tick-box response categories for the major religious groups, the ABS also makes provision for counting members of religious groups with small populations. This option is extremely important for our Eastern Rite dioceses so that they can obtain more accurate demographic statistics about their own individual communities,” she said.

“Catholics from the Syro-Malabar, Chaldean, Ukrainian, Melkite and Maronite communities are therefore encouraged to choose the ‘Other’ option and write in the name of their religious group instead, for example, ‘Ukrainian Catholic’.

“This will ensure that they are counted correctly within their own community, rather than assuming them to be Latin Rite Catholics.”

Questions about Catholics in the Census can be directed to the National Centre for Pastoral Research by emailing ncpr@catholic.org.au.

Life is Messy and God is in the Mess

Reflection on the Gospel

16th Sunday in Ordinary Time A

(Matthew 13:24-35)

Veronica Lawson RSM

Experienced gardeners or farmers or bakers might take issue with Jesus' choice of images for God's empire or kin-dom of the heavens. They may be singularly unimpressed by the methods of the farmer-gardener-God presented in today's gospel reading. An "enemy" planting weeds "all through the crop" is no surprise to readers familiar with the earlier part of this parable chapter, although the land-owner's decision to leave the weeds to endanger the wheat crop seems none too smart. Mustard, known for its propensity to grow wild and threaten the life of every other plant in the garden, makes for an equally strange kin-dom analogy. God's empire imaged as a baker woman taking yeast, a substance considered to be a corrupting influence in the first century Jewish world, and mixing it into twenty kilos of wheat flour, stretches the imagination in other directions.

These images cut across the readers' expectations quite dramatically. What might they be telling us about God's kin-dom of the skies? In the parables of the mustard seed and the leaven, there is a movement from small to great that communicates something about the power of God to bring abundance of life from the most inauspicious beginnings. They do not seem to fit with the parable of the wheat and the weeds until we look a little more closely. The element of danger to the life of the whole is common to all three parables. Maybe Matthew's Jesus is telling us that God is a God of risk who does not intervene but allows the weeds and endangering herbs to "infect" God's field.

Harvest season will be time enough to divide the wheat from the weeds, the life-giving from the infectious. In the meantime, the good seed must take hold. The good will finally outweigh the evil. That is small comfort, of course, to those who suffer at the hands of evildoers.

In the parables of the mustard seed and the leaven, Jesus seems to be telling his hearers that their idea of infection or danger is different from his. At one level, he engages the more-than-human and talks about respect for the complexity of eco-systems. At another, he is talking about societal inclusion: the people that many consider unclean or sinful or demon-possessed are not to be displaced from God's field or God's table. On the contrary, they may be the very ones who season the life of the whole. Life is messy after all and God is in the mess. It is worth noting that the leaven parable offers one of the few occasions in the gospel where God is imaged as female. While we know that God is neither male nor female, most of us have been conditioned to use only male images for God. The parable of the woman kneading dough validates the potential of female experience to reflect the life and activity of God in our world.
